

Notes:

		Test Proportion
SUBAREA I—HISTORY		27
0001	Understand key historical terms and concepts, and recognize ways in which human beings view themselves and others over time.
0002	Understand major political, social, economic, and cultural developments that shaped the course of world history to 1300, and analyze major periods of historical change within and across cultures.
0003	Understand major political, social, economic, and cultural developments that shaped the course of world history from 1300 to 1700, and analyze major periods of historical change within and across cultures.
0004	Understand the major political, social, and economic developments and turning points in U.S. history to 1815, and analyze the significance of cultural diversity in the early development of the United States.
0005	Understand major political, social, economic, and cultural developments in U.S. history from 1815 to 1900.
0006	Understand major political, social, and economic events and developments in New Mexico history, and analyze the diverse perspectives of those who participated in these events and developments.
SUBAREA II—GEOGRAPHY AND CULTURE		23
0007	Understand important geographic concepts and terms, and use geographic tools and resources to generate and interpret information.
0008	Understand major physical features of the world and the natural processes that shape the earth's surface patterns and biosystems.
0009	Understand major cultural regions of the world and the physical, cultural, and demographic processes and patterns that shape human societies and civilizations.
0010	Understand major physical and cultural regions of New Mexico and the United States and analyze geographic relationships within and between regions.
0011	Understand the diverse and dynamic nature of culture, and understand how culture, physical environment, individuals, groups, and institutions shape group and personal identities.
SUBAREA III—POLITICAL SCIENCE AND GOVERNMENT		18
0012	Understand important political science concepts, terms, and theories, and recognize characteristics of various political systems.
0013	Understand principles of democratic self-government in the United States and the rights and responsibilities of citizens in a democratic society.
0014	Understand the structure, organization, and operation of federal, state, and tribal governments, and the powers granted to the three branches of government.
0015	Understand the U.S. election process and the role of political parties and participatory citizenship in the U.S. political system.

Notes:

Notes:		Test Proportion
SUBAREA IV—ECONOMICS		14
0016	Understand important economic concepts, terms, theories, and various types of economic systems, and analyze basic economic phenomena and the structure, principles, and operation of different models of economic organization.
0017	Understand the components, structure, organization, and operation of the U.S. economy.
0018	Understand the international economic structure and the role of interdependence in the contemporary global economy.
SUBAREA V—SOCIAL STUDIES SKILLS		18
0019	Understand how to locate, gather, and organize primary and secondary information using standard historical and social science resources and research methodologies.
0020	Understand and apply methods for evaluating and interpreting sources of social studies information.
0021	Understand how to formulate issues and frame questions, analyze and synthesize information, make generalizations, and reach supportable judgments and conclusions.
0022	Understand how to communicate social studies information using various formats, and demonstrate the ability to translate information from one format to another.					